Tips on how to install your rug

At Ethnicraft, we don't believe in styling rules. A personal space is curated with pieces you love and make you feel good. But we can give you a few tips on how to find the best layout and decide on your rug placement.

Why choosing for a rug?

Ethnicraft's Kilim rugs made of 100% sheep wool yarn will bring warmth and help define the space. Rugs also offer additional acoustic isolation.

What size should I consider?

In each room, your rug should meet specific needs. We recommend taking into consideration the size of your space and the main pieces of furniture, such as your sofa, your table or your bed.

LIVING ROOM

Large rugs are usually preferred in a living room. It will clearly define the lounging area and enhance your sofa such as Ethnicraft's modular N701, or the sculptural Ellipse sofa.

Our tip: To create a visual sense of proportion and connect the furniture together, we recommend that the rug extends at least to the front legs of your sofa and chairs. You can also choose to place your rug at the centre and leave an even space between your rug and the pieces of furniture.

BEDROOM

A rug is the perfect piece to create a sense of intimacy and comfort in your bedroom. Imagine the soft touch of wool under your feet when waking up in the morning... You can also combine your rug with a bench to underline the end of the bed and leave your clothes in the evening.

Our tip: Place your rug at the end of the bed for a more intimate feel. For the best visual effect, make sure there is enough rug extension on each side of the bed.

DINING ROOM & KITCHEN

A dining room is a convivial space to bring friends and family together. A rug under the dining table will accentuate the sense of togetherness and visually define the dining area.

Our tip: When you host lively dinners or have loud guests, a rug under the dining table is a great way to improve the acoustic. To make sure you can easily manoeuvre the chairs; the rug should be slightly larger (one meter or 3,2 feet) than the dining table on each side.

WORK SPACES

In an office space, whether it is your home office, an open space or a meeting room, a rug will bring a delicate sense of comfort and calm to favour focus.

Our tip: Meeting rooms can benefit from the acoustic properties of a rug. In a co-work or open space, the rug will visually frame areas in a subtle way.
